David P. Berschauer

ATLANTA, GA

David has practiced law since 1991, with a background in litigation, workers' compensation and insurance defense. His main focus is on workers' compensation matters in the firm's Atlanta office, defending individuals as well as small and medium-sized businesses

"I listen to my clients and do everything that I can to protect their interests, educate them about legal issues affecting them and help them to plan ahead and avoid legal problems," says David. "I give clients a realistic 'road map' of the legal process that they are involved in, as well as an understanding and appreciation of the issues."

Outside of MGC, David enjoys traveling, fishing, hiking, camping, spending time with family and exploring the marine environment as a serious shell collector. He and his wife, Felicia, share two children.
