

Kristine M. Snyder

ATLANTA, GA

Kristine Snyder represents individual defendants, businesses and insurance companies in MGC's Atlanta office, with a practice focused on general litigation. For the last decade, Kristine has handled insurance litigation, medical malpractice litigation and complex workers' compensation cases across state and federal courts. She believes in the importance of "beginning the client relationship by having a conversation about shared expectations, lead[ing] to a mutually rewarding experience."

While earning her Juris Doctor at the University of Memphis, Kristine was a licensed student attorney with the Shelby County District Attorney General's White Collar Crimes Division, where she served as second chair in a tax fraud prosecution, as well as the Child and Family Litigation Clinic in conjunction with the School of Law, where she tried cases of child abuse/neglect in Juvenile Court.

Outside of the office, Kristine enjoys supporting the Beagle Freedom Project, an organization for rescuing and rehoming animals used in experimental research.
