

Malory-Anne Oliver

ATLANTA, GA

Malory Oliver's practice focuses on workers' compensation in MGC's Atlanta office, where she represents employers and insurance companies. Malory believes in the importance of preparing "clients for all possible scenarios in order to stay ahead of the claim and any potential exposure." Prior to joining MGC, she practiced workers' compensation law in Georgia.

Malory graduated from Mercer Law School as an Oxford Human Rights Scholar after participating in an honors program at the University of Oxford in London.

In her personal time, Malory enjoys spending time with her husband and their puppy, Willow. You might find her reading fiction novels, hiking or playing the piano.
