

W. Hugh McAngus | Retired Partner

Hugh McAngus is a founding member of MGC and a retired partner. He concentrated his practice on workers' compensation defense for 44 years, focusing on complex workers' compensation claims, catastrophic losses, toxic exposure, occupational disease claims, as well as mediation. Hugh was actively involved in the development of workers' compensation law on both a state and national level. He was also among the instrumental leaders that grew MGC from one office in Columbia, South Carolina into a regional insurance defense firm.

In 2014, Hugh was presented with the prestigious Hemphill Award by the South Carolina Defense Trial Attorneys' Association, showing distinguished and meritorious conduct and service to the legal profession and the public. He was the 16th recipient of this award in the association's 50-year history. Hugh is also a 2018 recipient of the South Carolina Association for Justice's Worthy Adversary Award, which honors a defense attorney who displays exemplary professionalism, honesty and ethical behavior.

Hugh is a proud husband, father and grandfather, and enjoys spending time with his wife, children and grandchildren. He is an avid outdoorsman, and loves to hunt and fish.
